

WEEKEND Shopper

You can sell goods for free

EMILY Ramsden was given plenty of new furniture when she married in January and she needs to make room by selling her old furniture.

Nicely timed, Emily, because The Advertiser is providing free classifieds in a new initiative called Weekend Shopper.

For two consecutive Fridays, starting on August 12, sellers with furniture, whitegoods and electrical goods valued up to $500 can advertise their unwanted items in The Advertiser's classifieds section and not pay a cent.

By advertising in the Weekend Shopper section, Mrs Ramsden, 22, won't have to spend a dollar for the first five lines of her classified advertisements.

Mrs Ramsden, of Para Hills, intends to take advantage of the fantastic offer.

"It's great, it helps save money and every little bit helps," she says. "We were spoilt with wedding presents and we are having a baby in December, so I thought it time we should advertise the old furniture."

She has sold items in The Advertiser classifieds before.

Readers can place free advertisements for items worth up to $500 under Furniture, Electrical or White Goods in Weekend Shopper until 12pm on Wednesday.

The advertisements will be listed on Friday, August 12.

Call 1300 321 321 to place Weekend Shopper advertisements.

OPPORTUNITY KNOCKS: Emily Ramsden contemplates her savings.

States demand pledge for workers

THE Federal Government has failed to guarantee workers would not be worse off under the Commonwealth's proposed industrial relations laws, the State Government said yesterday.

Industrial Relations Minister Michael Wright said state workplace relations ministers at a meeting in Melbourne yesterday demanded a guarantee from Federal Employment and Workplace Relations Minister Kevin Andrews that workers' rights would be protected.

A spokesman for Mr Andrews said Prime Minister John Howard had "repeatedly said people's wages are not going to be cut and we are not going to damage people's living standards".

"Unless these reforms go ahead people's living standards into the future could not be guaranteed," he said.

That's life

Russian thieves have made off with two 40-tonne locomotives from a museum in the icy north of the country. The locomotives once pulled the trains that ferried materials used to construct Stalin's Siberian gulags.
